

Both Sides of the River

Leonard Searcy

the lobby.

Hands Starks a clipboard.

ANDREW

Our cameras on the elevator have been down a few days so everyone signs in. To answer your question.

STARKS

Who was the guard downstairs yesterday?

ANDREW

Benji is...

JOSEPH

What's his name?

ANDREW

Benjamin Perez.

Joseph writes this.

ANDREW

He works the lobby until 6pm, but he didn't work yesterday. Home with the flu.

STARKS

Was there another security guard working with you last night?

ANDREW

No, just me.

STARKS

Do you know if she had problems with any of her clients?

ANDREW

I don't think so.

STARKS

You don't think so? You have a more definitive answer?

ANDREW

No, she had no problems with her clients, I'm sure of it.

STARKS

How can you be so certain? You don't have any cameras down there. You go down on that floor much, mix and mingle?

ANDREW

I walk the floors sometimes, yeah. So.

STARKS

Well who watches the cameras?.. Hmm? While you're mixing and mingling who's watching the cameras?

ANDREW

No one was on that floor last night, other than me who called you, and that wasn't until this morning when I found them...

STARKS

You found them? So somebody walked in your building murdered two people and all you have to say is that "you found them?" You're the only one working, there's no cameras that could see you coming in or out, am I right?

ANDREW

What?

STARKS

There's no one else who can corroborate your story?

ANDREW

Audrey didn't have enemies, everyone loved her!

STARKS

She's dead. Murdered. You obviously know shit. I should arrest you on suspicion of Murder.

ANDREW

For what? I didn't do anything?

Starks turns.

JOSEPH

John! Here's my card, anything comes